

HAVE MARITAL PEACE OF Mind

Bryan has a Masters degree in Counseling Psychology which assists in his compassion and warmth as a coach. Combined with a strong, diverse professional experience, Bryan is able to bring you an informative, insightful, and memorable experience.

Bryan's mission is to influence, inspire, and promote God-like love and respect in his own marriage and to other couples that desire growth. Working with Bryan in a coaching setting or a group setting will provide you and your spouse (or future spouse) the opportunity to:

- Explore Relationship Strengths and Growth Areas
- Learn Assertiveness and Active Listening Skills
- Resolve conflict
- Discuss your Family-of-Origin
- Start financial planning and budgeting
- Focus on personal, couple and family goals

You and your spouse deserve to have a marriage that is thriving! Call Bryan today for a free consultation.

Today's marriages need intention more than ever before. With the divorce rate at approximately 50% percent for first marriages, 67% for second and 74% for third marriages, couples need to spend time looking at what is important in keeping marriage fresh and alive! Bryan and his wife Stephanie are committed to helping couples reach a new level of effectiveness in their marriage. Call Bryan for a free consultation to see which program is best for you.

intentional MARRIAGES

PREPARE/ENRICH COUPLES COACHING
PREPARE/ENRICH is an assessment based on 20 relationship areas that examine communication, conflict resolution, financial management, sexual expectations, and more. These topics are covered in 6 sessions that facilitate discussion between the couple based on their assessment results.

COUPLE CHECKUP GROUP
The Couple Checkup explores issues such as communication, finances, sexuality, spirituality, and parenting. You will compare your results with other couples and learn principles for strengthening your relationship with one another.

PREPARE TO LAST GROUP
In PREPARE To Last, couples will find a full spectrum of user-friendly tools for launching a lifetime of fulfillment and relationship success.

PREPARE FOR YOUR MARRIAGE

Most premarital couples spend a great deal of time, energy and money on a wedding ceremony that lasts a few hours. But they spend little time acquiring relationship skills needed to build a marriage that could last 50 years.

FAILING TO PREPARE

“Failing to prepare is like preparing to fail!” It's much easier to prepare for a successful wedding than a successful marriage. Preparing for marriage means you have to be intentional about planning for your future together.

ENRICHING YOUR RELATIONSHIP

Marriage is a challenge for most couples, filled with much joy and also some difficult times. Marriage needs to be nurtured and provided positive things to keep it growing.

INVESTING IN YOUR MARRIAGE

The Couple Program for married couples can be used to help you build on your strengths and deal more effectively with problematic issues. The Program is designed to give you more skills so that you can focus on and deal with important issues in your relationship.

PROTECT YOUR MOST PRECIOUS ASSET

Although most couples report that being happily married is one of their priorities, regular couple checkups are rare. Especially considering the natural change that takes place in all things, it's surprising that many people are not intentional in knowing their partner and staying connected. The ever-changing nature of families and relationships is inevitable. You deserve to protect it by being intentional.
